

Dear Sir/Madam,

We are honored to invite you to attend World Packaging Conference, WorldStar awards, China International Packaging Forum and 2010 Beijing International Packaging Fair held in Beijing during May 31-June 4, 2010.

According to statistics, there will be about one thousand representatives from key enterprises among world packaging industry, international packaging organizations and other industries, experts, scholars and important political officers attending the conference, forum as well as packaging fair.

2010 Beijing International Packaging Fair is an important part of World Packaging Conference, which will be held in New China International Exhibition Center in Beijing. Also exhibition halls cover almost 60,000 square meters, which consist of following districts: packaging machinery, printing machinery, paper packaging products, plastic packaging products, glass packaging products, metal packaging products, raw & auxiliary materials and hi-tech. At that time, WPO and CPF will arrange relevant organizations to visit the exhibition and host various activities, such as technical exchange, press conference and on-site deals. It will also help to provide brilliant platforms of trades, investments and services.

China market with a stable increase attracts key packaging printing enterprises around the world to gather at 2010 Beijing International Packaging Fair. At that time, there will be one thousand packaging enterprises and ten thousand visitors attending the exhibition, which will be the best stage to show their images for enterprises.

2010 World Packaging Conference, China International Packaging Forum and 2010 Beijing International Packaging Fair will be held at the same time in the same place. They are interdependent, which will create a grand meeting in the world packaging industry. Appeal of World Packaging Conference and professionalism of China International Packaging Forum will secure exhibitor's effectiveness.

The grand meeting will be a chance to escape out of world financial crisis for packaging industry. On behalf of World Packaging Organization, we offer you a sincere invitation.

Welcome to attend 2010 World Packaging Conference and organize enterprises to attend 2010 Beijing International Packaging Fair. Please contact us or China Packaging Federation. We wish you to have a success in Beijing in June, 2010.

More details, please visit the website www.chipf.com.cn

Secretariat of World Packaging Organization

Nov. 23, 2009